Dear Members and Friends:

As I write this, it has started to rain. A blessed welcome site after the worst fire season in California history. The beginning of the northern California winter.

This is the time of year when we traditionally go inside to hibernate and modify the rhythms of our lives. Reflect in solitude, sleep a little longer, eat comfort foods, binge watch movies, and dig into the pile of books on our nightstand. But thanks to Covid, we’ve been doing all that since March!

So, now what? Hopefully, we’ve learned a thing or two these past nine months about how to stay satisfied and connected during a pandemic. We now know how to order groceries online, arrange a physically-distanced walk, ask a volunteer for help, or navigate a program on Zoom. If you’re still not using Zoom, I have a good reason to change your mind: The Holiday Party! On Wednesday December 9th we will gather virtually to celebrate our triumph over 2020! Theater artist, Evan Johnson, will host a fun-filled two hours beginning at 4:00 p.m. You must RSVP so we can prepare a surprise delivery for you.

We know that we won’t be able to gather in person for some time, even if the vaccines currently in development are successful. We need to dig deeper to find the creative resilience that will sustain us. Try some of the nourishing programs Sarah has scheduled this month like Resiliency Practices in Everyday Life and Rituals for Winter Solstice. Or pop into a casual conversation about favorite books, movies and TV series to binge watch! We’re excited to offer a six-week series called Life Story Club. A skilled facilitator will provide question prompts so you can share your own anecdotes and memories with other SFV members. You’re bound to make some new connections, find some joy and deepen your appreciation for the gift of your life.
If you’re like me and feeling fatigued by the events of this extraordinary year, please reach out this holiday season and connect with another member, a volunteer, or someone on staff. An unexpected friendly conversation has changed more than one bad mood for me this year. I’m especially energized after I talk with someone several decades younger than me. I come away saying, “I have to do that more often.”

With love and a grateful heart,

Kate

P.S. The Board of Directors has agreed to close the office from December 24 - January 3rd so the staff have time to rest and recharge. Please join me in thanking Jill, Sarah, Jessica and Yousra for their big hearts and open arms. They have said YES to dozens of requests this year that were not in their job descriptions, and our community is stronger because of it. BRAVA!

Did You Know?

December Events

In-depth Advance Care Directive Workshop (Part 2)
Thursday, December 3, 3:30 – 5:30 PM
RSVP to (415) 387-1375 or info@sfvillage.org
This 2 part workshop started in November

A 2-part workshop offered by Redwing Keyssar, RN, Author, Director of Patient and Caregiver Education at the UCSF MERI Center for Education in Palliative Care to assist people in creating meaningful and personalized Advance Directives for Healthcare.

Advance Care planning is critical for everyone! It is not just for people who have an illness. Every adult in our country should have this paperwork in place.

Many people have created documents of this type in the past, but then forgotten where they are or what they wrote down as being important. This workshop will give you an opportunity to review/revise what you have written in the past and create a new document that is specific and detailed regarding how you would want to be cared for, if you had a medical event or serious illness and could not speak for yourself.

These issues are particularly important to consider during this time of a global pandemic.

Please join the MERI Center and San Francisco Village in our unique workshop model that we have perfected over many years! There will be plenty of time for conversation and questions.

You can also ask them what it is like to be in your 20’s or 30’s, in this day and age, and about their hopes and dreams for the world. If you would like to be connected to a JLSF caller, please contact Jill@sfvillage.org.
